"This is one of my favorite rooms," says Andrews. "It's fun, and not just for kids." Overscaled pendant lighting adds edginess, flanking artwork by Los Angeles artist Matthew Heller. The painting is the lyrics to Madonna's "Little Star." The design began with the printed linen at the window. The sofa is covered in a gold chenille. The khaki-gold feel-good rug is forgiving.

what traditional means to me

To me, traditional is the foundation of all design—a starting point for all things classic. I have absorbed bits and pieces of design through the years from sources as diverse as my grandma's house to films and TV and, of course, from as many books and magazines as I could get my hands on. So while my personal design style is constantly evolving and I'm a firm believer that traditional "rules" are made to be broken, I know that tradition, in the end, is what makes a house a home.
